EFFECTS OF STRIKE DIRECTLY FELT OVER WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP

No Serious Disturbances Reported South of Hayward

Direct effects of the strike in Washington township are listed here:

1. Stores are either depending on their present stock, built up before the teamsters went out, or are running their own trucks under armed convoy from San Jose.
2. Barber shops are closed throughout the township.
3. Special deputies from the sheriff's office are on twenty-four-hour duty in Niles and Centerville to keep a record of all police radio calls and to relay messages by phone.
4. "Home Guards," for emergency use have been formed in all the towns.
5. Extra night watchmen have been added in many of the southern Alameda county towns.
6. Members of the regular police force and extra deputy sheriffs are patrolling roads night and day and convoying truck shipments of all commodities.

In spite of the above listed unusual events taking place in Washington township, no real hardship has been placed upon the public by the strike, nor has any rioting occurred in the township.

Although several trucks were overturned or ditched last week, nothing of a similar nature has occurred since the twenty-four hour patrolling began the first of this week. While bay cities and towns as far south as Hayward have reported disturbances, the nearest approach to any display of lawlessness in the township was the gathering of a crowd in Decoto Monday night. The crowd dispersed without any violence when deputies appeared on the scene.

Members of the barbers union journeyed throughout the township Tuesday forenoon and requested barbers to close with hints of possible unpleasant consequences if they didn't. All barbers in the township complied with the requests and now bear signs in their windows, "Closed on account of strike conditions."

When the committee of barbers left the township they headed toward Pleasanton. Forewarned of their coming, Pleasanton citizens met them at the city limits and escorted them to the city hall where they were instructed to stay out of Pleaasnton and not attempt to interfere with the normal course of business there.

Barbers of Pleasanton, after closing shop all Tuesday afternoon, opened up again Wednesday morning when the Pleasanton "home guard" promised them protection from any attempted violence.

No serious food shortage has been felt in the township. Chain stores are supplying all customers from extra stocks brought in before the teamsters walked out on strike. Independent stores are running their own delivery trucks to San Jose where supplies of all kinds can be procured.

FRUIT DITCHED AT FARWELL IN NILES CANYON

Truck and Trailer Halted By Gang at 2:30 a. m. Monday Morning

A truck and trailer load of pears was salvaged from the creek bed near Farwell in Niles Canyon Monday morning after three machine loads of unidentified men had stopped the truck and run it into the ditch.

Dominick Silva, of Milpitas, driver of the truck, was accosted by the band of men at 2:30 a. m. He was not subjected to any violence. A watchman stationed on the railroad bridge nearby witnessed the action, but was unable to obtain license numbers of the cars used by the gang.

The truck and trailer were the property of Jack Doudell, of San Jose, trucker for a San Jose packing company. The truck was badly damaged in its descent from the road into the ditch.

The shipment of fruit was on it way to San Jose from Sacramento. Salvage work was complete shortly before noon Monday by a crew of Doudell's workmen.

PRIZES AWARDED TO CAMPFIRE GIRLS

Prizes in two different lines of endeavor were awarded to Campfire Girls of Washington township this week.

Peggy Munger received the annual cash award going to the most outstanding worker of the year. The award, maintained by the yearly $5.00 paid to the girls by the Niles Chamber of Commerce for helping with the Niles Wild Flower Show and supplemented from the weekly dues paid by the girls, must be used at camp. While Rosalie Harrold was named the outstanding Campfire Girl of the year, the prize went to Peggy Munger as runner up when it was learned that Rosalie Harrold was not going to camp this year.

Honors for verse writing were won by Betty Robinson, Mabel Townsend, Peggy Munger and Muriel Fournier in a local contest.

The contest was the outgrowth of a request sent out from national headquarters. Mrs. Nell Farrington Myers acted as judge of the local contest and entries were turned over to her with numbered identifications only.

It is hoped that some of the girls will enter their verses in the national contest and perhaps carry off a prize or two.

STRIKE FORCES REGISTER TO GO TO FOUR PAGES

WITHOUT APOLOGY, but with regret, the Register offers its readers only four pages of news this week.

For some weeks now we have been impatiently awaiting the unloading of several tons of newsprint, now on board a freighter in the harbor of San Francisco. Strike conditions have prevented its delivery to our Niles office. Our present stock of paper has been shrinking visibly week by week and now looks mighty low.

In order to guarantee the publication of our paper for a number of weeks, come what will, we have reduced the Register to half its general size. We are sorry if the additional pages are missed and hope the curtailment of service will be short and that we will soon be back to normal conditions.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

By NORMAN H. PARKS, Publisher Register

DON'T TAKE THE FIRST PUFF

The Township Register has not carried an editorial against the evils of the cigarette habit among girls and women for many, many months. Probably our readers have thought because of our circumspection we have been won over to the side of ultra-modernism; but the reader is wrong, if that has been his conclusion.

To the young girl just graduated from grammar school we would address this article. You will enter high school in the fall, and doubtless believe yourself to be a young lady now, and quite capable of looking after yourself. Perhaps you have formed the very erroneous belief that being a young lady and smoking cigarettes are synomymous. They are not. The fad is passing. The habitues, that is, those already addicted to the unrefined practice, are slaves to the god, nicotine, and to the manufactured cigarette. These girls cannot quit. They will tell you they can stop the practice any time they want to, but they lie when they say so.

Cigarette breath is not attractive in a young woman. Even in a man it is obnoxious. Men are more and more turning to the girls that do not smoke. Charm is a girl's greatest asset, and this you can not have, and smoke. Clothes and breath reeking with nicotine just do not associate with charm.

Remember, if you would be a non-smoker, never take the first puff. It is like taking the first drink of whiskey. The habit is formed quickly, and once formed, rarely broken.

To the young girl, then, we plead abstinence. You will never miss anything you have never tried. But on the other hand, you will gain a sweetness and a cleanliness, that you could not have and smoke. Cigarette smoking is also injurious to the finely strung feminine nerve system. It weakens the will-power and makes other steps, better not taken, harder to resist.

Let your boy friend know without equivocation, that you do not smoke. That will end the matter with him if he has any sense at all, and if he lacks brains enough to understand your language, give him the air.

THE JOKER IN THE DECK AGAIN

It is the opinion quite universally accepted, that the New Deal has failed. In fact, the New Deal is being junked, and the Old Deal, of the Hardings, the Coolidges and the Hoovers is back with some fancy trimmings. Reputed to be creatures of wealth, the three late Republican presidents would hardly have gone so far as to suspend all anti-trust laws. That is what the Roosevelt administration has done. The big fellows have reaped the reward, and their condition now is a very happy one.

Unfair practices, such as bargain days in merchandise, have gone by the glimbo. The writer, for instance, is being charged from thirty to 100 per cent more for paper he uses in commercial printing than in the early part of 1933. Has he been able to pass it on to the customer? Hardly. The customer already can ill afford to pay even low prices for printing. The big fellow gets his, and the little fellow takes the loss.

That's the new deal as it is actually working out. But—

Well, this thing is not settled yet. The little business is not going to close up and become a creature of vast wealth—not without a fight. They can't make errand boys out of all of us. A lot of water has gone under the bridge since the time of Louis the XVI. Paper bullets, in the form of ballots, will eventually settle this score, and settle it RIGHT.

AND MAYBE IT'S TRUE

The Register learns by grapevine telegraph that the real reason the former Eleanore Wilson divorced Senator Wm. G. McAdoo was that she was tired of living with a grandpa who thought he was a candy kid.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Ellis are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Lannes Sharman, of Los Angeles. The Sharmans are former Centerville residents.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Marble left Niles Monday on a short motor trip in the southern part of the state. They are expected back by the first of next week.

NILES SUICIDE VICTIM DISCHARGES SHOTGUN INTO BRAIN TUESDAY

No Substantial Reason Is Advanced for Rash Action

Sprawled on top of his bed with a gaping hole shot in his neck and his head full of buckshot, Guy E. Lucas, of Niles, was found dead by his own hand at 9:30 Tuesday morning in his home at 737 Second street.

No substantial reason could be given by members of his family for the act. A temporarily depressed state of mind was the only possible motive that seemed to fit the case, in the opinion of athorities who investigated.

Lucas had procured a shotgun and pressed its muzzle up under the right side of his jaw. Holding the barrel in his left hand he had discharged the gun by pressing the trigger with a yardstick in his rght hand. The charge entered the side of his neck, severed his windpipe, shattered parts of both jaws, entered the base of the brain and fractured his skull in several places without emerging. Death was instantaneous in the opinion of a local physician who examined the body.

Lucas had not arisen Tuesday morning. Members of the family were attracted to the scene by the sound of the shot.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:30 from Pratt Mortuary, Hayward, with interment in the Lone Tree cemetery, Hayward.

Lucas was born in Kansas sixty-two years ago. He had lived in Niles for over twenty years and for the past few years had served as custodian of the Washington Township Veterans' Memorial building here. He was a veteran of the Spanish-American war and a member of the Niles Neighbors of Woodcraft.

Surviving relatives include his widow, Alice Lucas, and son George, both of Niles. A daughter, Mrs. Alice Simas, lives in San Francisco. He was the brother of William and Lee Lucas, and the grandfather of Alice May Sims and Jack Lucas.

"HOME GUARD" TO BE PREPARED FOR EMERGENCY HERE

Action Taken at Special Chamber Meeting Monday

Steps to form a "home guard" for Niles were taken at a special meeting of the Niles Chamber of Commerce in the Florence restaurant Monday noon.

The guard will consist of a number of Niles citizens, deputized by the sheriff's office to be ready to respond to any emergency threatening Niles property and arising out of the strike conditions in the bay area.

The plan has been undertaken at the request of District Attorney Earl Warren, who met with a score of Niles business men Sunday afternoon in the Niles justice court house.

Reasons for the action as outlined by Warren Sunday and as discussed at Monday's meeting were:

1: In the opinion of the district attorney's office the strike situation is more serious than is realized by people living in outlying communities such as Niles.

2. Property destroyed by fire as the result of a riot or by violance during a riot is not subject to insurance coverage; and all policies in Niles would be temporarily suspended in the event of the destruction of any single piece of property by rioting.

3. Extra police protection established in the bay cities may cause the scattering of destructive groups to the surrounding country communities.

4. Concentrating of police on special duty, such as convoy duty, makes additional means of protection advisable.

5. Although sheriffs may call upon any citizen or group of citizens in the event of an emergency, a picked group, prepared in advance for action, makes for quicker and better handling of such an emergency.

The "home guard," to be completed before the end of the week, will probably meet with present deputy sheriffs to be deputized and receive instruction. One long blast of the Niles fire siren will be the signal to call the guard into action.

Business men and citizesn were urged at the meeting to call the sheriff's office, Lakeside 0176, in the event of any threat on property. Special radio hook-ups throughout the county would be the means of getting deputies to the scene in the shortest possible time. A radio has been installed in the Niles court house with a man on constant duty to take care of any such calls from this district.

Similar steps as those taken in Niles are to be undertaken in surrounding cities, with communications between cities in the event of any disturbance.

Plans were also put under way to provide Niles with an extra night watchman until the strike shall be over.

G. Lanfri Walks Into Path of Vieux Auto

G. Lanfri, of Niles, suffered bruises on the right shoulder and left leg when he was hit by the car of Robert Vieux Tuesday evening.

Vieux was turning off First street onto Eye when Lanfri stepped off the curbing into the path of the car.

I.D.E.S. MAY BUILD OLD FOLKS HOME IN TOWNSHIP

Warm Springs may be selected as the site of an old people's home by the I. D. E. S. lodge, it was revealed this week by Joseph Brown, of Warm Springs, state executive of the order.

According to Brown, the order has practically decided to establish a home for aged members of the lodge somewhere in California. The question of a suitable and available site remains to be decided.

This question will be one of the chief items of business at the state convention in Eureka this September. The Arthur Curtner ranch at Warm Springs has been suggested as an ideal location, and it as well as other sites will be considered by lodge members at that time.

Glass In Show Case Broken by Newspapers

Imagine the chagrin of D. M. Carvo, proprietor of a Niles newspaper stand, when he came to work Monday morning and found the glass in his front case broken.

A bundle of bay city papers reposed guiltily in the display of candies within the showcase, where they had been thrown from the newspaper truck as it passed in the morning.

Pleasanton Farm Loan Has Favorable Report

Seventy-four people made applications for loans at the National Farm Loan Association at Pleasanton during the quarter ending June 30, 1934, according to Everett Nevin, secretary-treasurer.

Of the total number of loans applied for during the quarter only twenty-one were closed. A total of 337 applications for loans have been applied for by property owners in the Contra Costa and Alameda counties since the Farm Loan association was established in Pleasanton. The total number of loans closed since its organization is one hundred twenty-eight.

The report in detail shows that while the number of applications are decreasing, the percentage of loans closed remains the same.

A greater number of cancellations appear on record, but this is due to the Land Bank of Berkeley "crossing off" their books, as of June 30, approvals which had never been accepted, according to Nevin. It is also pointed out that a capable reserve has been set aside.

PROGRAM TOPICS DISCUSSED AT FARM MEETING

To draft a program for the ensuing six months, the executive committee of the recently formed local of the National Farmers' Union met at the home of W. A. Sloan, Irvington, Monday evening.

Topics outlined for future discussion were largely based upon a series of questions asked by the Pacific Rural Press of the various aspirants for the governorship.

Topics worked out by the committee were: The general tax situation, including the balancing of the budget instead of issuing bonds, etc.,; retaining relief on common property; a state income tax; the balancing of city and farm property appraisals; the increase of bank taxes; the checking of crime by means of a general registration and state police systems; the need for adequate shipside cold storage facilities; enforcement of the produce dealers law, with some additions and changes; the reduction of public utility rates to meet present needs; a study of property rights in relation to the vexed water question, study of a land utilization plan and the California prorate law, as well as the different agricultural codes now being set up in the state.

Speakers of these various subjects and the dates of meetings will be announced later.

Mental Derangement Is Verdict at Inquest

Inquest of two suicides in Washington township last week brought a coroner's jury to the decision of temporary mental derangement in both cases last Wednesday morning at the Chapel of Palms, Centerville.

Coroner Grant D. Miller was in charge of the investigation. Inquest was at the office of Deputy Coroner Frank Botelho.

The suicides were Tony Ramos, Decoto merchant, who shot himself at his home recently, and Lars Netland, former San Francisco Water Department surveyor, who took his own life at Alvarado July 5.

NILES MILK MAN OPENS NEW PLANT NEAR POST OFFICE

Opened just a little over two weeks ago, a new Niles business is in full swing on Eye street next to the post office. It is the pasteurizing and bottling plant of the Nagli Milk Delivery.

Nagli according to well versed dairy people, now has in operation a plant as well equipped and modern in every particular as may be found in southern Alameda county. One pasteurizing machine delivers the pasteurized milk at a temperature of 142 degrees Fahrenheit to an efficient cooling machine which reduces the temperature to 50 degrees Fahrenheit. From the cooling machine the milk is conveyed to the bottler.

The plant at present is handling one thousand quarts per day.

A separator near the cooler provides cream for those who desire it.

Empty bottles coming into the dairy are individually washed with electric brushes and then placed in a sterilizer and scalded with live steam.

Nagli obtains his milk from his own herd of tuberculosis-tested cows.

Nagli is especially proud of his first milk test, made on July 9, only six days after opening of the new dairy. The test showed butterfat, 4.0; solids not fat, 8.7; sediment, 9.7; bacteria count, 200 (a count of 50,000 will pass inspection); temperature, 50 degrees; and flavor, 14.1. This score is the highest ever recorded in Washington township, Nagli asserts.

Visitors are invited to visit the new plant, where they may procure samples of the milk being distributed by Nagli.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS WILL HOLD CAMP AT PINE CREST

Medical Sanction Is Given To Plan; Girls To Leave Next Week

With county as well as local medical sanction to the plan, members of the Teniga and Gemewuance groups of Washington township Campfire Girls will leave for Camp Adahi, to be located this year at Pine Crest, next Wednesday.

Leaders of the groups had delayed plans for this year's camp in view of the state-wide infantile paralysis epidemic. However, plans for the camp were carried out when expert medical opinion decried the necessity of calling off the camp for this reason.

Swimming will be dispensed with, but there will be nature study, astronomy, camp craft, hand craft, dramatics, archery and first aid. Miss Lois Abrott, of Pleasanton, will be nurse and first aid intructor; and Miss Muriel Fournier will be a counselor. Two of the Teniga group will be selected at camp as assistant counselors.

Those attending camp will be Leona Solon, Ramona Mello, Betty Robinson, Barbara Kibby, Barbara Straub, Anna Shinn, Evelyn Pond, Peggy Munger, Mabel Townsend, Lillian Jorgenson, June Farrington, Mary Gertrude Coley, Marian Ziegler, Antonette Holman and Winifred Bendel.

Mrs. Carthy will cook for the girls and Mrs. J. E. Townsend will be director of the camp.

GAIN REPORTED IN CALIFORNIA TOURIST TRADE

Arriving in increasing numbers as the vacation season advances, summer tourists are thronging the playgrounds of California, according to word received by Harvey Braun of the Southern Pacific Company.

A substantial gain in passenger business, both east and westbound, has been recorded over 1933 so far, with indications that the total for the season will be well above that of last year, it was stated.

Although the unusually low roundtrip rail fares, and the one-third cut in Pullman rates throughout the territory served by Southern Pacific, have done much to encourage a revival of travel, the increased patronage is also held to be evidence of further improvement in the nation's business.

Providing full protection against summer heat on transcontinental trips, Southern Pacific's leading trains, the Overland, Golden State-Sunset and Cascade, are now carrying their full complement of air-conditioned club, lounge, observation, room sleeper and dining cars, it was announced.

Fierce Grass Fire Threatens Turner Property Wednesday

A large grass fire which is thought to have started from a cigarette thrown by a passing motorist threatened to completely destroy the home and chicken farm of O. Turner on the Sunol-Pleasanton road near Verona last Wednesday afternoon, according to C. Letham, Pleasanton fire chief.

The fire started on the hill road near Verona and burned a small piece of land containing dry stubble, crossed the creek and started burning on the Turner property.

The Pleasanton fire department was called and extinguished the fire before serious damage was done to the chicken houses nearby.

Sparks from the grass fire started a fire on the roof of the Turner house but this was quickly extinguished by the firemen, with little damage being reported.

The Alameda county fire patrol of Livermore was called first to the grass fire but when it crossed the creek and started on the chicken houses the Pleasanton fire department was called to assist the county firemen.

run uninterruptedly throughout the strike. For a day or so the first of this week many stores ran out of butter and ran low on meat. Most of these have restocked these commodities and are prepared to supply any demand from customers.

Fresh vegetables are the only foodstuffs whose lack is at all apparent. Most stores in the township still have only limited stocks of fresh vegetables, while a few have obtained supplies from local farmers and growers.

Most service stations in the township are still able to get gas deliveries and supply their customers. Dan Marble, of Niles, has closed his station temporarily.

Local officers convoy trucks of township merchants to and from the county line in bringing foodstuffs from San Jose. Other trucks going through to bay cities are also being convoyed by deputy sheriffs.

Additional officers sent out by the sheriff's office are on twenty-four-hour duty patrolling all roads and highways looking for signs of trouble. Special deputies in Niles and Centerville keep track of all police radio calls in the township and relay phone messages from town to town.

"Home guards" have been formed in all township towns at the request of District Attorney Earl Warren. From fifteen to twenty-five citizens have been deputized in each town to answer riot calls in case of emergency.
